Exploring the beauty of our planet through glass

My story...

The natural world on our planet is amazing and my passion is creating hand-painted glass pieces that express some of that wonder.

Much of my inspiration comes directly from the Somerset countryside where I live - lots of trees and beautiful sunsets to experience while out with my dog. The seascapes represent my dreams for the future.

My pieces range from tiny suncatchers on greetings cards, small dishes and coasters, through to free-standing curved panels and wall art.

Every single piece I create is individually tinted, hand-painted and fired, using my own combinations of glass powders and enamels, which means that each one is a unique piece of glass art, whatever its size. I love that I can achieve high levels of detail, while keeping my glass waste to a minimum.
